From construction to engineering, careers in the shipbuilding industry are fast-paced, challenging and critical to the North Coast region's vitality and growth. Recognized the world over for the unparalleled design and production of superior quality marine craft, the shipbuilders of the North Coast Marine Manufacturing Alliance take tremendous pride in their craftsmanship and it shows.

"When I started as a pipefitter at Marinette Marine in 1995, I was happy to have landed what I thought would be a "good job" for awhile. Since that time it has evolved into a career that has allowed me opportunity for advancement, continued education, a challenging work environment, and a competitive salary and benefit package to help support my family."

- Guy Arnold
Production Planner, Marinette Marine Corporation

"Marine Manufacturing is just the continuation of an ancient craft that is both alluring and dynamic. It offers any individual room for personal and professional growth with an ever-expanding marketplace and global community. And while steeped in long standing traditions and time-tested practices, new materials and construction techniques make the field very challenging and well worth the rewards. That's why I love this field..."

- Steven Karcz
Design Engineer, Marquis Yachts
